The Spiritual Life of Children BY RABBI DAN LEVIN dlevin@tbeboca.org

The world is an amazing place, filled with energy and life. But not all life is the same.

The economist E.F. Schumacher wrote that there are four levels of being. The lowest level is what he calls the "mineral" level, the basic elements of physicality. Some things rise to the next level - they are alive. You can tell the difference between a tree which is living and a tree which is not.

Still one more level up, and things are not simply alive, they are conscious. From the smallest insect, to fish and birds and animals of every kind - these creatures are awake and aware.

The fourth level of being is where we are different as human beings. A being has not simply matter, life, and consciousness, but something altogether transformative - the power of self-reflection.

As human beings, we are the only creatures that ponder and debate the meaning of our own existence. We ask ourselves: Who am I? Why does the world work the way it does? Can I change it? What is my life's purpose? What do I owe myself, and what duty do I have to others – especially those who are disadvantaged or more vulnerable than me?

These are not questions that are reserved for adulthood - we begin to ponder them as children. And it is the consideration of these questions that builds the essence of our spiritual lives.

The famous child psychiatrist Robert Coles, in preparing for his book The Spiritual Life of Children, spent hours listening to children ages 8-12 talk with each other about their growing sense of faith and belief. children wrestled with their beliefs about God, what they thought was their purpose in life, and what it meant to be good. They admitted their frustrations with injustice, and embraced that they had to do something to make the world a better place.

Becoming self-reflective is not always innate. To develop the fullness of our humanity, we must be taught. Twice a day we are asked to recite the Shema and V'Ahavta, where we are reminded of the obligation of every Jewish parent to teach our children. It is our holy responsibility to teach our children to be self-reflective, and to help them develop their spiritual and moral core.

Children listen closely to their parents, believe we must teach our children how to answer complicated moral questions. We must show them why it matters to be good, to nurture their natural sense of wonder and guide them along their their grandparents, their teachers, and their religious leaders. As Robert Coles teaches, children try to make sense of a complicated world from a very early age. And it is our obligation to help them develop the tools they need for their spiritual and human growth.

Temple Beth El takes very seriously our responsibility to partner with all families in our community to nurture the spiritual life of our children. We journeys of spiritual exploration. We must teach them how to use the wisdom of their sacred tradition to build lives of meaning, purpose and holiness.

The world can be a difficult place, but when we help our children to develop their inner spirituality, we provide a light that will not simply guide them on their own path, but give them the tools to spread the light of God's presence to every darkened corner of our world.

A MESSAGE FROM THE TEMPLE PRESIDENT

Temple Life

BY MARK SUNSHINE TEMPLE BETH EL PRESIDENT msunshine@masunshine.com

I wish it weren't true, but in many ways 2017 reminds me of when I grew up in the New York area in the 1960's and 1970's. I know from personal experience that children and teens need synagogue.

While I didn't understand a lot about what was happening in America when I was a kid, what I did comprehend was dark and disturbing.

I remember assassinations and race riots; the Vietnam War; my brother's draft number being 47 and my parents crying; Johnson; Nixon; Kent State; student protests and then even more protests; Watergate; and stagflation. I remember when veterans were called "baby killers" and cops were called "pigs." I never understood how ducking and covering at school was going to save me from a hydrogen bomb (and we were told that our town was a Soviet first strike target) and that worried me.

Starting in middle school, illegal drugs and sex were a constant, which scared me.

And, I went to funerals, a lot of funerals, for classmates who didn't make it out of high school.

But through it all, our synagogue was a second home where I felt safe and removed from the craziness around me. I depended upon the clergy and youth director. I had my own little corner in the cantor's office where me and a bunch of other kids kept our "stuff", and when we were confused, the adults explained things in an understandable and comforting way.

I still think of those conversations 40-plus years later.

Synagogue got me through high school without being damaged by adolescent mistakes and insecurities, all of which were amplified by then current events.

Unfortunately, history is repeating itself. America is again in turmoil and for our children and teens, Beth El is a refuge from the upsetting and unsettling 24/7 news cycle.

We provide a safe environment for children to learn and play, and for teens to grow and flourish. Our children see exceptional role models, and can spend quality time with their friends without parents having to worry about high risk behavior.

As Beth El's President, I remember what temple life did for me and am committed to making sure that it can do the same for your children. I want every Beth El child to know we are there for them, and can be depended upon to be a constant role model in an otherwise uncertain world.

Our children are our legacy. Now, more than ever, they need Beth El.

Construction Update: 3 Phases

BY STEVE KAUFMANEXECUTIVE DIRECTOR
skaufman@tbeboca.org

The Schaefer Family Campus threephased construction project is well underway. Phase 1 is complete, and consisted of renovations to the Singer Sanctuary including lighting and sound upgrades, as well as air conditioning and life safety improvements to the Atrium.

Phase 2 began last month and is expected to take approximately one year. It includes the new lobby and covered drop off, new chapel, new adult learning room, restroom renovations, a new Sisterhood gift shop, and completion of a portion of the new administrative offices. Phase 2 also includes redecoration of the Atrium and Social Hall in the summer of 2018.

During Phase 2, the main entrance area and lobby will be closed off, as will the restrooms closest to the main Sanctuary. During this time, all guests will enter the building through the Courtyard.

During Phase 2, the main entrance area and lobby will be closed off, as will the restrooms closest to the main Sanctuary. During this time, all guests will enter the building through the courtyard. The Sisterhood gift shop and lobby seating areas will not be available, and restroom facilities will be limited to those located closer to the doors leading to the courtyard.

A temporary entrance will be built in the rear of the Singer Sanctuary to allow us to renovate the area in and around the main Sanctuary doors. This will require the temporary relocation of all our Yahrzeit boards.

The Phase 3 completion of the administrative offices will most likely begin in 2019. So things will be a little crowded and inconvenient during 2018. We appreciate your patience and understanding as we embark upon the most intensive and disruptive phase of this major project. We will do our best to minimize the inconvenience to the congregation while continuing to provide you the programs and services you expect from your Temple.

We will provide additional construction updates in The Chronicle and via e-mail so stay tuned!

Kulanu Chavurot

ALL OF US — GROUPS OF FRIENDS

Now forming groups for Temple families with a child in pre-K to second grade

Have you ever walked into Temple and wondered, "Where should I sit? Who is here that I know?" Experience the difference that a warm welcome and lasting friendships within Temple Beth El can do for you and your family.

Kulanu Chavurot is a Hebrew phrase that embodies the goal of this small group initiative, Kulanu meaning "all of us" and Chavurot meaning "groups of friends." By participating in Kulanu Chavurot, you will have an opportunity to interact with other Temple members who share common interests and lifestyles, within a small group setting. Each group independently designs its own programming touching upon our Four Pillars: Spirituality, Education, Social Justice and Social Engagement.

The program is now being offered to all Temple families with a child in Pre-K to second grade, who will be invited through an online questionnaire.

We look forward to seeing this program grow, and welcome suggestions for new groups. Anyone interested in sharing comments or gaining more information, please contact Elinor Josephson at 561-391-8900 or Rachael Rand at 561-391-9091.

Spirituality in Young Children

BY CINDY KORSHIN

BETH EL EARLY LEARNING CENTER DIRECTOR ckorshin@tbeboca.org

All parents want their children to be happy. How do we plant seeds of happiness in our children in hopes that it will last a lifetime?

According to Psychology Today, research suggests that having a connection to something greater than themselves is how we build that happiness.

Aristotle stated, "happiness is the meaning and purpose in life, the whole aim and end of human existence." In the Early Learning Center, we are giving our students the opportunity every day to feel grateful for all of the things we eat by saying a blessing over snacks and meals. On Shabbat, we sing songs that teach us about G-d and that G-d is everywhere. We encourage our students to collect tzedakah and perform acts of kindness by giving to others.

This year we have devised some new programming that supports our mission.

Our first children's Havdalah service is taking place at the Delray Beach Children's Garden. On Saturday, January 13, the children will be enjoying a Havdalah service in a beautiful natural environment. We encourage you to join us for a very special program.

Additionally, we have started a new program called Mitzvah Mensches that coordinates with the temple's Social Action Committee. Each month our children will be participating in activities and projects that are age appropriate for our students, including donating food, gleaning, or helping families enjoy Easter dinner at the Wayne Barton Center.

At home, we encourage you to create an environment of gratitude. Start each day by asking your child what is something good that you can do today. Reflect at the end of day and ask your child what was wonderful today? What made you smile?

The truth is, children are born with spirituality. They live in the moment and they love unconditionally. I think we can learn a lot from kids.

HAVDALAH IN THE GARDEN

Spiritual Parenting

BY HEATHER EREZDIRECTOR OF YOUTH EDUCATION AND ENGAGEMENT herez@tbeboca.org

Sometimes, usually in the car, I find myself thinking about my purpose in the universe and connection to God, but it's so daunting, I tell myself I'll finish the thought when I have the time. Carving out time to stop and reflect about spirituality is hard between soccer, piano, homework, etc. If I can't find time to contemplate this ever-changing thought for myself, how am I supposed to help my kids connect and nourish their own spirituality? This is where Temple Beth El comes into play.

Our job as religious school educators is to facilitate these conversations by providing a space for students to grapple with the idea of God and their own spirituality. We are reinforcing their natural instinct to wonder and to appreciate the awesomeness that is around us each day, a trait that tends to fade with age. Opportunities to talk with your children may come up organically as a result of these conversations in religious school. Carving out time to connect yourself religiously and spiritually will also help support this side of our children.

Participating with your children at our Family Participation services, Havdalah events and Family Learning Days throughout the year, will pave the way as we venture together into the world of spiritual parenting.

ADULT EXPERIENCES

Making new friends and having fun with old friends is a big part of being a member of Temple Beth El. Through the Adult Experiences initiative, singles and couples in their 40's and 50's get together for a fun night out. At the comedy club outing in October, the group started with dinner and Havdalah and then enjoyed a night filled with laughter!

SISTERHOOD LUNCHEON

Sisterhood honored Lisa Zwick for her leadership and dedication to our temple community at their annual luncheon. Everyone enjoyed the fashion show, a delicious lunch followed by a scrumptious dessert and most of all, hanging out with their "sisters."

SISTERHOOD UPDATE

Shalom from your Sisterhood!

BY AIMEE LEVIN AND JILL WEINER SISTERHOOD CO-PRESIDENTS sisterhood@tbeboca.org www.tbeboca.org/sisterhood

Life is like a roll of toilet paper: the less of it there is, the faster it goes. That says it all for 2017! Sisterhood had an exciting, enlightening and successful fall, and we are rocking and rolling into 2018.

Probably, most notable was the Women of Reform Judaism/Temple Beth El Sisterhood Luncheon held on December 5th, honoring Lisa Zwick. Close to 200 women were in attendance for boutique shopping, a delicious lunch, viewing the latest fashions from Mario Pucci, and of course to toast Lisa, our Woman of Valor.

In December, it's always fun to see the children's eyes and smiles light up during Chanukah celebrations at Temple Beth El's Early Learning Center and religious school. Not only were latkes prepared and served in each of the classrooms by Sisterhood and staff, but the children also received goodies to take home: a dreidel, chocolate gelt and Chanukah candles. Parents were invited to their child's classroom for the celebrations, and it is thru the eyes of the children that the true love and magic of the holiday is palpable. Depending on the children's ages, they may not even fully understand, yet as adults, we can see their pure spirituality. As grandparents and parents, you know what we are talking about. Latkes and applesauce can actually bring such joy and spiritual awareness!

Through the Sisterhood, we hope to bring spirituality and awareness to you, and you to Sisterhood. We have an exciting, jam-packed calendar this year, and we hope to see you at one, two or all Sisterhood events. There is truly something for everyone.

Buffet Dinner followed by an Interactive Seder
as we celebrate an inspirational evening for women.
Featuring Amy Grossblatt Pessah & Patty Beck
$36/TBE Members • $45/guests • $25.00/Students

Join us for an enlightening and interactive women's seder, as we discover ways in which our rich Jewish tradition empowers us to help heal the world. Through song and poetry, we will delve into the spiritual insights of Judaism's mystical tradition. Focusing on the deeper meanings of the Passover seder, we will explore pathways for transformation in ourselves, our communities and our world.

Amy Grossblatt Pessah has been a spiritual seeker for entire life. Amy has a Master's degree in Jewish Education and is currently a student rabbi in the Aleph Ordination Program. As well, she has been trained in Spiritual Direction, Jewish energy healing, Reiki, Integrated Energy Therapy and chaplaincy. Patty Beck is a past President of Temple Beth El, Hebrew Union College Board member and benefactor of the Beck Family Campus. Her recent trip to Israel revealed certain gender inequalities. She will share her comments about what she witnessed.

BROTHERHOOD UPDATE

Shalom from your Brotherhood!

BY ANDREW H. ZWICK AND ALAN S. KLASFELD BROTHERHOOD CO-PRESIDENTS info@tbebrotherhood.org www.tbeboca.org/brotherhood

Is it January already? That means that Brotherhood is moving into the heart of our calendar. It 's time to clean out the wax and put away the menorah. Break out the sweaters and coats for the few days we will need them, and get our kids back to school after their winter breaks. But for Brotherhood, January means it's time for our biggest event of the year. The Annual Brotherhood Golf Event will be at the newly refurbished Boca Rio Golf Club on Monday, January 22, 2018. This year we are honoring our own Adam Runsdorf. Our charity partner is the Alpha Epsilon Pi Fraternity Foundation of which Adam is a past national president. This year's tournament promises to be more spectacular than ever. If you are reading this it's not too late to participate as a player, partier, and of course, supporter/donor. We welcome all Temple members to enjoy in this spectacular event.

February brings back for us a past event reborn for 2018. For the families of TBE we are proud to have our Family Dinner and Movie at the Beck Family Campus on Thursday, February 15, 2018 featuring "Wonder Woman." Enjoy good grub and a fine flick shown outdoors...the way a movie is supposed to be seen.

Brotherhood is always looking for new participants to get involved and to enhance our group. If you're interested in attending a board meeting or have questions about an event please contact us at info@tbebrotherhood.org.

Morgan Stanley

Morgan Stanley is proud to congratulate our

Forbes Top 200 Women Wealth Advisors

We are honored to have so many of our Financial Advisors named to the Forbes Top 200 Women Wealth Advisors list for 2017. Being included on this list is a testament to the experience, professionalism and dedication to clients demonstrated by this group.

Thank you for carrying forward the culture of excellence at our firm.

Source: Forbes.com (February 2017). The ranking of America's Top Women Wealth Advisors, developed by Forbes' partner SHOOK Research, is based on a ranking algorithm that includes telephone and in-person interviews, client retention, industry experience, review of compliance records, firm nominations; and quantitative criteria, including: assets under management and revenue generated for their firms. Investment performance is not a criterion because client objectives and risk tolerances vary, and advisors rarely have audited performance reports. Rankings are based on the opinions of SHOOK Research, LLC which does not receive compensation from the advisors or their firms in exchange for placement on a ranking. The rating may not be representative of any one client's experience and is not indicative of the Financial Advisor's future performance. Neither Morgan Stanley Smith Barney LLC nor its Financial Advisors or Private Wealth Advisors pays a fee to Forbes or SHOOK Research in exchange for the ranking.
